The MISSION of the Academy of Automotive Technology is quality student training. We are not a body shop, auto repair service, or similar profit-making business. We are a school and our only function is to train students. You have asked us to use your property in connection with our educational programs. If we agree to accept your property, it will only be accepted subject to the terms and conditions of this explanation and the Alachua County Publics School's Academy of Automotive Technology Disclaimer, Release and Indemnification Agreement on this form.

While it is important to train our students to do the best work possible, we are not in the repair business and we do not offer any warranties or promises concerning the quality of the work or whether or not it will meet the owner's expectations.

If we accept your property, you will not be charged for any of the labor involved in the project. Instead, you will only be asked to pay for parts, materials, consumed supplies, tool wear and a markup to cover the shop and delivery services. Because we are working on your project, at your request, at minimal charge, it is important that you understand that the quality of work to be performed will vary--according to the ability of the students performing the job.

If, after receiving your property, and paying for the parts and supplies used in connection with the work, you become aware of defects or are dissatisfied in any manner, we encourage you to bring your concerns to the attention of the supervising instructor. The instructor will then make a determination concerning whether or not the work performed was indeed defective and whether or not a repair will fit with the Program's educational curriculum at that time. In other words, we do not promise to repair any defects. If the repair work fits in with the instructional subject then being taught, we may receive the project back as a further training aid.

It is important that you understand that the work is being done by students who are not fully qualified journeymen and that while the instructor oversees and inspects student work the instructor is not able to provide the level of protection and quality of service available in private industry.

If it is important to you that the work be guaranteed or that you be assured of a certain level of quality, you are encouraged to take your property to a private, for-profit repair facility where you may be provided with the assurances and warranties you require.
